LITERARY NOTES.

"Homoselle" is the title of the next Round Robin novel, which will be ready August 27.

A novel of German society, called the "Story of a Portionless Girl," by Miss Mary A. H. Allies, will be published as a serial in The Catholic World, begin-

The new amnesty for press oflences permits the return to Paris of M. Felix Pyat, who intends to add one more to the swarm of cheap revolutionary journals of the French capital.

Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, the historian of New-York City, has engaged to write the "Young Folks' History of New-York" for the "Great Cities of the

The author of "One Summer," Miss Blanche Willis Howard, is on her way home from Europe with the manuscript of a new novel, which James R. Osgood & Co. will issue in October.

It is reported that the next Atlantic will have a humorous poem by Dr. Holmes on the Phi Beta Kappa orations of Wendell Phillips. Also a paper by Mr. E. L. Godkin on the shooting of President

Mr. M. D. Conway says that Mr. O. B. Frothingham will hereafter make literature his profession. and will immediately enter upon it by undertaking a biography of the late literary critic of The Tribune.

Professor W. S. Scarborough, a graduate of Oberlin College, now holding the chair of Latin and Greek at Wilberforce University, has been engaged during the past six years in the preparation of "First Lessons in Greek," designed as an ele-mentary drill book on the inflections and syntax of the Greek language. The book is now ready at A.

President Bascom's well known text-book, "Æsthetics, or the Science of Beauty," has been revised and improved for a new edition which G. P. Putnam's Sons have in press. The same firm has made preparations to publish "Lectures on the Origin and Growth of Religion," by T. W. Rhys Davids, but Charles Scribner's Sons have similar plans, and the matter awaits amicable adjustment.

The North American Review for September will contain the history of the "Monroe Declaration," by the Hon. John A. Kasson, late Minister to Austria, who gives the credit for formulating that doctrine to John Quincy Adams. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale writes of the taxation of church property, and takes the view that all churches should be taxed 'in form," but that "in practice those churches should be exempt which by their charitable work help to lighten the public burdens."

"A singular story," says The Boston Courier, " is told in connection with Mr. Howells's ' Dr. Breen's Practice,' now being published serially, in The Atlantic. It seems that a lady of this city contributed to the magazine, after 'Dr. Breen's Practice' was in type, a short story that so much resembled that of Mr. Howells that he felt it necessary to call upon the lady and explain the situation of affairs in order that no charge of plagiarism might be preferred against him. He showed her the proof-sheets of his story, and perfectly satisfied her that the similarity between her work and his was one of those strange coincidences which have from time to time occurred in the literary world."

'Cape Cod Folks," a summer novel of considerable merit, published anonymously by A. Williams & Co., has awakened a great deal of interest in regard to the authorship. The Hartford Post gives the following information about the author: "The Cape Cod people have been guessing on the writer's identity ever since the story appeared, and have finally discovered who she is. The best part of the secret is that the entertaining novelist is a Hartford County lady, her home being at Simsbury, a few miles out on the Connecticut Western Road. The young lady's name is Sarah McLean, of Simsbury, a daughter of Justice McLean, of Simsbury, a lead-ing citizen of the town, and a well-to-do farmer there. Miss McLean is a handsome blonde, about medium height. She is not past twenty-two years of age, and spent one year at Mt. Holyoke Semi-nary, but completed her course at Madison, Wis. She has the old New-England blood in her veins, and is the descendant of a clerical race. The first edition of her novel has been exhausted at the publishers', and it will be several days before a new one can be issued. The writing of the novel was a secret from everyone at her home until the proof-sheets were sent to her. The way she came to drift toward Cape Cod and the delightful anchorage there for a season or two was in the profession of a teacher. The novel was one of the happiest results of her

TUESDAY, Aug. 16-P. M.

The stock market to-day was more active than it has been for several preceding days, and the transactions amounted to 359,400 shares against 157,400 shares yesterday. But the increased vol-ume of business was accomplished only by a material decline in prices, which stimulated the trading element to a renewal of operations. Early prices showed some decline from last evening's figures, but the downward movement was continued all day, and with less than the usual reactions of a falling market. Conspicuous in the dealings was Western Union, which stock recorded 48,300 shares a greater number of transactions than any other stock-and declined from 88 to 8512, closing with a final rally of ³s per cent at 85⁷s. The Wabashes also were specially weak, the common stock falling to $48^{1}s@48^{5}s$, and the preferred to 85¹s. Which with a decline of 112 to 123, and closed without recovery. Missouri Pacific dropped from 105% to 1044, and Missouri, Kansas and Texas from 4212 to 41. Louisville and Nashville was more than ordinarily active, and yielded from 101 to 9812@9912, and Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis declined from 87 to 85. St. Paul opened with a decline of 1 per cent at 11314, but after that it and Northwest were about the best sustained stocks on the list. The coal stocks sympathized with the general movement, and New-Jersey Central fell to 9212@93. Central and Hudson and Lake Shore early broke away from the points at which they were supported yesterday, but at . decline of 112 and 1 per cent respectively they again were sustained, while the general market continued to be sold down. Central and Hudson closed at 142% against 144% yesterday, and Lake Shore closed at 122% against 12312. Michigan Central, however, declined from 96 last evening to 931%
